Assumption College 30 Hour Phone Famine

Can you live without your mobile phone for 30 HOURS for a good cause?

The 30 Hour Phone Famine is our major fundraiser for the Marist Missions, especially for schools in East Timor. It challenges us to live in solidarity with young people in developing countries and survive without our MOBILE PHONES! The Phone Famine will run from 9am on Thursday August 27th and finish on 3pm Friday August 28th. Students are asked to seek SPONSORSHIP for each hour that they "survive" without their phone!

This Sponsorship Form will help you keep track of how much you raise. Hand this form in with your money on the 27th August.
Good Luck & Enjoy the peace and quiet!

Where will the money go?

This year the money we raise will go to educational programs in Baucau and Santa Teresa. These schools lacks many basic necessities. More so than ever before, the money raised will be put directly into the hands of people who can use it to make a real difference in the lives of young people who suffer the effects of poverty.

In inconvenience of living without you mobile for 30 hours is a small price to pay for the education of young people in need.
